Every Detail of Proposed Use of Free Bridge Must First Be Sanctioned by Federal Commission Before It Can Be Undertaken.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 15 .- Commenting on Mayor Miller's agreement to spend $1,500,000 to complete the southern approach to the St. Louis Municipal Bridge to connect the Alton & Southern and the Manufacturers' Railroads, Chairman John J. Esch of the Interstate Commerce Commission said today that the Commission's approval would be necessary for the connecting line and for the proposed wering of the freight tariffs.

Chairman Esch declared that he uld not forecast what action the Commission would take regarding the connecting line or any proposed change in freight sched-ules. He stated tat the carriers proposing to use the connection would have to convince the Commission that its construction was required by public necessi ty and convenience and that any lower tariff schedules would be just, reasonable and not prejudicial to the interest of the whole public. He added that ample oportunity would be given to opponents of the plan to protest against the connecting line and clusive service would not directly affect the St. Louis Situation. He stated that so far as the commission was concerned, the decision merely held that the Santa Fe must get a certificate for the building of the extension. The Santa Fe had contended that the proposed construction was merely an industrial track and that no commission certificate was necessary.

At the time of the suit the Santa Fe had not asked for a certificate. After the Supreme Court's decision, an application was filed and hearings were held.

The application will come before the commission July 14 for argument. Assistant Director of Traffic C. V. Burnside, the examiner who conducted the hearings, filed a report April 12, recommending that the certificate be granted with limitations. Burnside held that public convenience and necessity required the extension, provided two provisos were incorporated in the certificate. First, that the new route should not be used except where such use would clearly result in increased efficiency from a transportation standpoint, and second, that if the Texas & Pacific (the carrier now giving exclusive service) should construct a connection with the Santa Fe extension, the Santa Fe should switch the Texas & Pacific cars at a reasonable rate.

Judge Brandies' Opinion.

The Interstate Commerce Com nissioners have not yet acted upon the Santa Fe's proposal. The case came to the United States 351preme Court through an inj suit brought by the Texas & Pacific in the Federal District Court. The injunction was granted by the District Court and reversed by the Federal Circuit Court. The Supreme Court reversed the Circuit Court, and held that the Santa Fe must have a certificate before it could continue with the construction of the extension.

Justice Brandels wrote the court's opinion which was handed down, March 1, last year. The Brandels opinion stated that ap-plications for certificates of necessity and convenience must be given the closest scrutiny.

"Where the proposed trackage extends into territory not theretofore served by the carrier, and par-ticularly where it extends into territory already served by another carrier, its purpose and effect are, under the new policy of Congress, of national concern," Brandels said. "for invasion through new con-struction of territory adequately served by another carrier. Like the establishment of excessively low rates in order to secure traf-clc enjoyed by another may be imical to the national interest.

Commission Is the Judge. Attaches of the commission interpret these remarks as an ad-monition and do not consider them as prohibitions against allowing a outside carrier to enter an occupied field. In subsequent para-graphs Brandeis pointed out that it was the commission's administra-tive duty to see whether the public convenience and necessity required the extension. Brandeis concluded that the Santa Fe's connot be built unless the Federal Commission issued its certificate that public necessity and conven-ience require its construction."

Mayor Sees no Reason to Change His Mind.

Mayor Miller, after reading today the above interview with Chairman Esch of the Interstate Commerce Commission, said he could "see no-thing in the interview to cause him to change his mind about the desirability of the immediate constructure of the southern approach to the Municipal Bridge.
"I never have thought there was any question about the necessity for the roads using the Municipa Bridge to obtain certificates from the Commission," the Mayor said, "and to my mind there is not the slightest question that the certifi-cates will be granted.

"The railroads in the Terminal Association admitted in their bridge ordinance that the necessity for the additional facilities existed.

"To postpone construction of the approach to await the long process of hearings before the Commission on the question of certificates would only cause delay. It is my opinion we should go ahead with the construction and while that is under way the formality of getting the certificate can be gone through."

The Mayor said there was "ne

asion to discuss rates now."

FLYERS RESCUED FROM DROWNING AFTER 3 HOURS

Portuguese Aviator and Three Companions Cling to Wreckage Till Saved by Fishing Boat.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 15 -Holding to the floating wreckage of their plane, Maj. Sarmento Beires, Portuguese aviator, and three companions yesterday fought the elements for three hours.

Attempting to fly back to Lis-bon, by way of the United States, they left Para, Brazil, for Georgetown, British Guiana, June 7 and, after they had flown 30 miles, a mishap compelled a forced landing As they were about to resume the journey a huge wave en-gulfed the plane, wrecking it.

Great waves, during a storm, washed over the four repeatedly. When they had almost given up hope, a fishing boat appeared, and they were rescued with difficulty and taken to Para. The plane sank and only the log of the flight was Beires, who last March flew across the South Atlantic from the West African Coast to an island off the Brazilian Coast and thence to Brazil, now will return to Europe, with his companions, by steamer.

The plane came to grief in the Maraca region, where the Argentine aviator Bernardo Duggan was forced down last June after leaving Paramaribo while on a flight from New York to Buenos Aires. Dug-gan, also, was rescued by a fishing

Mother of Flyer Travels From chief of the newly-created State New York in Pullman Car Named for Son's Plane.

y the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 15. — Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the flyer, left New York for St. Louis at 4:46 p. m. today on the newly christened Pullman Car, "Spirit of St. Louis," accompanied by an official delegation from that city.

Before leaving, Mrs. Lindbergh granted reporters a short interview in the apartment at 270 Park avenue, where she has been staying with Col, Lindbergh. She said that at 10 a. m. she had gone on a shop-ping tour. She told with relish of a telephone call she made to the partment during the shopping

"I inquired whether Col. Lindbergh had left," she said. The person answering the call was incredulous when Mrs. Lindbergh an-nounced her identity. "I was told

Mrs. Lindbergh was asleep."

Prior to the departure of the train, it was christened by Mrs. Harry K. Knight, wife of one of the sponsors of the Lindbergh

The christening consisted of the unveiling of an illuminated keystone on the observation platform at the rear of the train bearing the inscription "The Spirit of St.

Refuses for Fourth Time to Approve Teachers Named by Maddox Who Live Outside of City.

BEN WEIDLE DENIES CHARGE OF POLITICS

Successful Paint Bidder's "Blind" Samples Marked Differently From Competitors.'

For the fourth consecutive month, the Board of Education last night declined to approve the appointment by Superintendent Maddox of teachers who are not residents of St. Louis. The Superintendent has taken the position that merit, art residence, should be the basis of apointment. He has devised an elaborate system of scoring appli-cants on the basis of educational preparation, written and oral ex-amination and his choice is governed wholly upon that scoring.

The majority of the board have peatedly indicated that non-resi-lent appointees will not be ap-Non-residence is conrued to mean the narrow geograhic lines of the city limits, not the ommunity commonly referred to s Greater St. Louis. Thus, residents of county towns and villages, or of East St. Louis, are shut out. The Superintendent has shown no sign of weakening in his position nd has adopted the policy of reusing to withdraw appointments, isapproved by the Committee on instruction, thus forcing the comwith him and compelling a vote in Eight Instructors Disapproved. Eight instructors for the summer playgrounds were disapproved last night on this ground. The appointment of several teachers for Negro schools was laid over for iture consideration, the only obction to-them being that of resi-

Henry C. Schroeder, newly-electthe Board last night to a general rule that no non-residents should e appointed, but he was ruled chnically out of order. The superintendent mustered ly one vote in his support last ight, that of Mrs. Elias Michael, ho declared that merit, not resilence, was the only sound basis of appointment. Yet the superintendent succeeded in dividing the Board in a tie vote upon his recommendation that H. H. Davis director of records and statistics, an appointee under his reorganiza tion plan, be granted leave of ab sence for one year to complete his study for a doctor's degree at Iowa

In a statement to the Board Maddox said that the declared policy of the Board was to stimulate study for self-imp the teaching corps and that to refuse Davis that opportunity would constitute discrimination against

Murphy Notes a Difference. Richard Murphy differentiated between teachers and holders of executive positions. He said that he was in favor of leaves for teachers who desired to continue study, but was not in favor of leaves for executive officers. The tie vote resulted in an agreement to postpone action to a subsequent meeting. The Board recently declined to grant W. C. Cocking, director of curriculum, leave to accept a scholarship in Europe.

Unsuccessful bidders for the privilege of supplying the Board of Education with paint are suspicuous of the fact that the Rauer-Beine Paint Co., has obtained the lion's share of the orders in the last few years, even on occasions when it was not the lowest bidder and on a few occasions when it was the highest bidder.

This was disclosed by Arthur A. Blumeyer, who moved that the last bids on paint, in which Reverbids on paint, in which Rauer-Beine again were successful, be rejected. The samples of paint submitted with the bids bear blind numbers for identification. It was discovered that the Rauer-Beine sample bore on the label a dot or period after the number, which was not present on the samples of other bidders. The suspicion was that this served to identify Rauer-Beine paint from the others. Blumeyer said that he wished to cast no aspersion upon the paint company or on any employe of the board, but that in view of the circumstances, it would be wise to call cumstances, it would be wise to call for a re-letting.

Suggests It Might Be Advisable to "Sanctify Unmarried Unions" to Improve Moral Standards.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.-Science has created an entirely new moral situation, said the Rev. Henry Lewis, Rector of St. An-drews Church, at Ann Arbor, Mich., in a speech at the opening session of the Annual National Congress of the Protestant Episco-pal Church last night. He defended the tendency among the younger generation to indulge in "sex experiments." Declaring his contact with the younger generation "makes me proud of it," the Rev. Mr. Lewis debated whether the church might not do better to recognize "unmarried unions."

Ann Arbor is the seat of the University of Michigan.
The right Rev. John G. Murray, of Maryland, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, followed immediately with an impassioned de-fense of "the sanctity of the home." Bishop Edward L. Parsons, of California, and the two other clergymen also took issue with the Rev. Mr. Lewis, one of the latter however, remarking that the Ann Arbor Rector "deserved the congressional medal for his frank-ness." Many of the delegates, on the other hand, were quoted as approving Lewis' statements.

"The boys and girls are in love with life," Lewis asserted. "They discuss sex, they try experiments, but here is the chief point—they live by what they think is right, not by code.

"We cannot presuppose a fixed and invariable moral code by which the men of all ages and all degrees of civilization are to be tried and convicted or acquitted. E sure, however, by the standards of the Victorian "You can no more try this age that you get India era than you can try Christian standards by the lives of the Old

OF C. & O. DEAL

Answer Is Ordered at I. C. C. Hearing, and Commission Will Rule on Propriety of Questions.

WASHINGTON, June 15 .- Durng a cross-examination before representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a partial account of the activities of the Van Sweringen interests in the field of raflroad control was developed, but it was left incomplete by the positive refusal, on the advice of counsel, of O. P. Van Sweringer to an-wer all questions. He disclosed, however, that with his brother, M. J. Van Sweringen, he had personally gone into the stock market and bought outright control of the Wheeling & Lake Brie Railroad, only to transfer their stock holdings in equal shares to the Nickel Plate, which they control, and the Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central.

He stood firmly by a refusal to give in detail the steps by which he, his brother and their associates had previously acquired control of the Chesapeake & Ohio, and whethor he may be compelled to answer questions was reserved for a decision by the full membership of the Charles D. Mahaffie, finance director of the commission, presid-ing, overruled all the objections made in behalf of the Van Sweringen interests, and ordered answers. It is from his ruling that the appeal to the full commission has been taken.

Fiscal Statements Filed.

Van Sweringen was a witness in the hearings on the project of the Chesapeake & Ohio to purchase control of the Erie and Pere Marquutte systems.

Henry W. Anderson, counsel for Chesapeake & Ohio minority stockholders opposed to the merger filed for the record a long series of financial statements furnished by the Van Sweringen interests, relating to details of the Chesapeake & Ohio corporation and arrangements by which the Van Sweringens hold control of five trunk

Among the statements was one showing loans obtained by the Van Sweringens from large banking institutions which are depositaries of railroad funs. It indicated that during 1926 J. P. Morgan & Co. loaned the Cleveland brothers $40,been repaid, while the First Na-tional of New York has loaned them $6,000,000, and other instituions lesser amounts.

When Anderson demanded a record of all the purchases of Chesapeake & Ohio stock and sales made by the witness, his brother and their immediate associates for several years back, Herbert Patrick, chief counsel for the Chesapeake & Ohio, objected. He was overruled by Mahaffie and announced an inention to appeal to the full com

No Details of Stock Sale.

Turning to the question of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad, whose sharp increases in stock prices this spring nearly convulsed the market, Anderson asked what "common interest the Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and Nickel Plate Railroads," had in

"I am here as the chairman of the Chesapeake & Ohio Board of Directors," Van Sweringer pro-tested in reply, "it has purchased nothing. As to the Nickel Plate I cannot tell."

At this point Newton D. Baker. former Secretary of War. now personal counsel for Van Sweringen, protested that personal matters were being inquired into, and that the subject did not concern the application before the commis-sion. Again Director Mahaffie ruled that the questioning was justifiable.

"I now request the witness," said Baker, "to make the record clear by declining to answer further questions on this subject, on advice of counsel, so the matter may be certified to the commission.

Explains Lake Erie Deal. A conference between Van Swerfollowed, after which Baker with drew his instructions, saying that in making them he forgot that he was a director of the Baltimore & Ohio as well as counsel for Van Sweringen. The latter then enter-ed upon an explanation of the Wheeling and Lake Erie transac-"You are all more or less inrmed as to the four party agreement among Eastern trunk lines in reference to railroad consolidation," he said. "By that agreenent, the Wheeling & Lake Erie line was tentatively assigned for joint control to the Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and Nickel

"Early this spring it became evident to me and some of our peosary to purchase this line if we in-tended ever to get it. I personally looked after the purchase of control. My brother and I personally put up the indemnity.
"We then told the Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central that f they wanted to carry out the four-party plan as to the Wheeling and Lake Erie they had to do so then, they did so elect and took over their shares. There are no contracts of any kind or agreenents and understandings."

Manager McCarthy's Shifts and Trades Have Improved the Club - Pitching Seems Best in League.

By Herman Wecke.

There are managers in the major leagues who are willing to take a chance. Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs, now but one game behind the league leading Pirates, is one of this number. McCarthy has shifted and shifted. He has made numerous trades, not only with rivals in the big tent, but for minor league stars.

And his system seems to work.

Right now the Cubs are on a winning streak, the best put together by any club in the big tent this year. The last ten contests in which the Bruins have participated have been victories.

What's more, the Cubs can win the close ones. Of the 10 battles, eight have been captured by a margin of one run. The Bruins have just finished polishing off the Giants for four in a row and in all but one game, the decision came to the Cubs by the scant margin of 360 feet.

Prior to the meeting with the men of McGraw, the men of Mc-Carthy took four straight from the

Ace Hudkins to Oppose Baker

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 15.—Two young blonds' from the Middle West will attend charity boxing bouts at the Polo Grounds tonight. One is Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. who will look on as the guest of Mayor Walker; the other is Ace Hudkins, weiterweight sensation, who is billed to battle Sergt, Sammy Baker. Baker, too, has a claim to the interest of the Colonel, as he hails from Mineola, N. Y., made tamous by its flying field.

When the flyer was learning to handle an airplane stick in Lincoln, Neb., he knew a tough and determined young novice fighter named Hudkins.

While Col. Lindbergh has not shown himself more keenly interested in the ring than any other normal young man, the ring has taken a keen interest in him. The night he was on his way to Paris the huge throng assembled for the Sharkey-Maloney bout bowed silently in prayer for him. A moment later someone shouted that the flyer had more nerve than most lighters and fighters and fighters. ghters—and fighters agreed.

Most of tonight's combatants are

Dempsey wires.

Why, Jack!

TACK Dempsey is "coming than ever and that he feels that he can hit harder than at any time in his life.

All of which is slightly out of line with precedent, and therefore makes one a bit skeptical whether Jack is coming back seriously or just for the big money in it.

Statements that he "is better than ever' may be passed over as the usual applesauce trim-mings that always decorate the pork barrel. No man can hope to accomplish with equal facility the same athletic feats at 32 that he did at 25, especially if he has not practiced his profession regularly in four or five years.

Assuming that Dempsey is really in great health after his two months conditioning and that he will box every day for the next five weeks, he is merely kidding himself if he thinks he is 100 per cent the same man who fought Willard and Carpentier.

Catch 'em First, Then Hit 'em.

FOR Dempsey, the problem is whether he can tune up his co-ordination to the point where he can catch up with a clever defensive fighter.

Time was when few of his foes could move fast enough to keep away from the lightning thrusts of this fast hitter. In his fights during the last four years, however, Dempsey showed a loss of that quick response to opportunities which once made him invincible. He still sees the open ings; but by the time he decides to plug through them, they have

His hitting was the fraction of a second behind his old speed, and the fraction beat him, at Philadelphia.

Unless Dempsey has two or three private fights in training quarters he seemingly cannot get back his lost co-ordination Training partners help. But that they do not perfect, was shown in three rather pitiful efforts—one against Gibbons, the next against that big ham. Firpo, and finally when he lost his title.

ISO=VIS

Takes the "guess" out of lubrication!

It's a great satisfaction to know that your car is thoroughly lubricated—that there's no danger of the oil thinning out, no matter how long your trip.

If you use Iso=Vis, you can know that satisfaction. There was no guesswork in the making of this motor oil. It was carefully and painstakingly developed to meet the new theory of scientific lubrication.

There's no guesswork about its performance either. Iso=Vis lubricates acar with a newefficiency -always on the job every mile of every trip! One of the thousands of appreciative letters the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has received, relating actual experiences with Iso-Vis, is reproduced below:

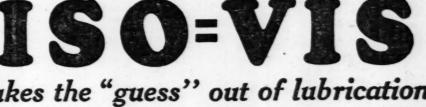

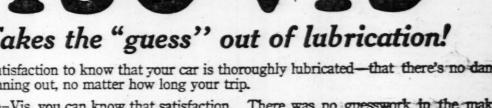

Iso=Vis takes the "guess" out of lubrication because it maintains constant viscosity—it is always the same. The body is as good at the finish as it was at the start-in fact it "seems a shame to throw it away"!

According to statistics, ordinary oil loses two-thirds of its body before the car has gone 200 miles. That explains the big difference motorists notice when they start using Iso-Vis-the greater smoothness—the freedom from dilution troubles—"better lubrication at lowered cost per mile!" Iso=Vis saves trouble—and saves money! 30c per quart at Standard Oil Service Stations and all licensed garages.

"What is my used car worth in trade?"

OCCASIONALLY you near a car owner say: "I'm going to buy such and such a new car because the dealer has offered me the best deal on my used car."

But without understanding the economics of tradein transactions, you cannot be sure that the largest allowance offered means the best deal for you.

These are basic facts:

YOUR used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i. e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

YOUR used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

THE largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

AN excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

FIRST judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

Remember that when you trade-in your used car you are after all making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of a new car.

FLIGHTS OF FANCY.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

PRESIDENT AND PRESS.

om the Baltimore Sun. PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has an ideal for American newspapers. It is that under no circumstances shall the newspapers criticize the acts and utterances of the State Department in its handling of international affairs. If the newspapers are to make any comment at all, it must be in the naof applause.

Mr. Coolidge's ideal as in this country just an ideal. In France, on the other hand. it is close to a reality. As a general rule when the Government cracks the whip the newspapers jump through the hoops. Witness the incident of Ambassador Herrick's Memorial day speech. The Ambassador was bitten by the bolshevik bug and at onee developed a virulent case of redophobia. He condemned the activities of bolshevism ridiculous and absurd speech. However, the Ambassador's declarations in perfectly with the foreign policy ideas result? 'At once the Paris Temps and the Journal des Debats distinguished French newspapers, devote much space to praise of the Ambassador, proclaiming as wisdom what was in fact arrant nonsense. Not content with letting the American Ambassador appear ridiculous, they make themselves ridiculous in the eyes of all intelligent peo-

And this is the ideal set before American newspapers by President Coolidge. No wonder American newspapers fall so far below, the presidential ideal.

CURBING CRIME.

From the Chicago Journal. CALIFORNIA has adopted a variant of the Baumes law, which is credited with having been a deterrent to gun crimes in New York State. The California law provides that criminals, convicted after two prior convictions for specified crimes shall punished by life imprisonment and shall not be eligible for parole until they have served for at least 12 years. For those four times convicted of felonies a life sentence is mandatory, with no right of parole. This method of dealing with habitual inals is the only sane method. A man who has been proven repeatedly to my of society should be put where he will forever be harmless. Legislation should look to the punishment of criminals and the protection of society, not to the coddling of dangerous characters.

Wholesale prison deliveries by parole are an incentive to crime. Illinois should see to it that parole is made more difficult, not easier. It is hard enough to get criminals into the penitentiary; once there, they should be kept locked up for as long as the law and the safety of society require. Bigger and better prisons rather than loosening and extension of parole-that should

AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL NO E. From The New Yorker.

MR. ARTHUR BRISBANE, it seems, doesn't waste all his sage advice on his readers. An earnest young man, son of a former statesman, recently visited the Great Editor to ask his advice. He had been iting items from Washington and wanted to know what Mr. Brisbane thought of them. "I've read your stuff," said the editor. "It's good. The only thing I can say is: 'Don't lose your superficiality.' "

ONE FOR THE AUTHOR. CHARLES EDWARD STOWE in The Nation. TARL SANDBURG in his life of Lincoln says that my mother, Harriet Beecher Stowe, "worked hard and for 13 years had done most of the washing and sewing for the family." From the first of her married life till she wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," she had a most efficient housekeeper and two hired maids. "She cut and sewed her husband's coats," he says. If my father had ever ventured abroad in any garment my mother could have made he would have been locked up for a tramp or an escaped bedlamite. "And, besides, was a cobbler cutting leather soles and nailing leather heels onto uppers she had cut and sewed so as to lace the shoes up behind." If my mother had ever made my father a pair of shoes to lace up behind, like Job's wife, he would have cursed God and died.

NEW FISH LAWS.

From the Missouri Game and Fish News. A NEW Missouri law makes it illegal to sell game fish when taken from the waters of Missouri and defines game fish as being channel cat, rainbow trout, crappie, large' mouth bass, small mouth bass, rock bass, black per h, green sunfish, jack salmon, pike perch, yellow perch, ringed perch, white bass, yellow bass, blue bream and blue gill sunfish. It prohibits their sale in commercial stablishments, except the person catching them may have them served. Specific provision is made that out artificially propagated may be sold.

This bill also limits the number of fish that may be taken from the water of the State in any one day by one person to 20 rock bass (goggle-eye), 10 bass of all other specie, 10 trout, 15 crappie, five jack salmon or pike, 15 white perch, 10 channel cat. or a total of 25 game fish. The possession more than the number of fish allowed is prima facie evidence of a violation of the law.

Another law effective in July this year will make it illegal to catch, take or have in possession any bass, jack salmen, crapple or goggle-eye between March 1 and May 30. It recognizes the spawning season of channel cat to be June 10 to July 10 and makes it illegal to take or have in possession any channel cat between those dates.

A new rate schedule filed recentby the Laciede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis, involving increases for approximately 75 per cent of the small consumers of gas, also is pending before the commission. The ompany hammered on the reproduction new theory in its valuation case last year and obtained a valua. tion of $52,260,000 over the city's contention it should not exceed $40,000,000. The valuation set permitted Charles A. Munroe to sell out his holdings in the Gas company at a personal profit of more than $4,000,000. A rate increase granted the Southwestern Bell Co. on business telephone service in St. Louis is before the Missouri Supreme Court on appeal by the city. The rate increase was granted in June, 1925. at the same time the commission placed a valuation $24,700,000 on the St. Louis exchange of the com-pany. Negro. Who Took Money From Fruit Dealer, Arrested. A sack containing $628.75 was stolen last night from a truck belonging to Vito Cusumano, a wholesale fruit dealer, by a Negro helper whom he had hired earlier in the day, and was recovered within an hour by University City police. Cusumano had stopped his truck in Overland to make a business call and discovered his loss when he returned and found the Negro missing. He reported the theft to University City police who arrested the Negro at 10 p. m. as he was returning to St. Louis on a Creve Coeur street car. He is Robert Coleman, 19 years old, who ar-rived from Galveston, Tex., yes-

Wholesalers, Retailers Are Public Necessity Both the wholesale and retail establishments are necessary. Each renders a service the public demands. It is seldom possible to buy from a factory and enjoy the service of a retail store, yet the Prufrock-Litton Furniture Co., Fourth and St. Charles Sts., offers this advantage to those buying living-room furniture. Upholstered furniture custom made in their factory now reasonably priced! Coxwell Chairs, $47.50; Davenport and Arm-chair, $145.

Stammering

is not a disease. It has a cause and a cure. If the stammerer can talk with ease when alone, and most of them can, but stammers in the presence of others, it must be that in the presence of others he does something which interfaces with some the presence of others he does some-thing which interferes with nature in the speech process. If then we know what it is that interferes, and the stammerer be taught how to avoid that, it must be that he is getting rid of the thing that makes him stammer. That's the philosophy him stammer. That's the philosophy of our method of cure.

An institution for the cure of stammering will be opened in St. Louis on June twentieth under the direction of Mr. Paul A. Gross, a sometime stammerer and exstudent of the discoverer of this wonderful method. Mr. Gross may be consulted at the office of the institution at any time or will call evenings upon appointment.

This school is a branch of the famous school located at Tyler, Texas. The names and addresses of students and exstudents will be furnished upon request.

Three Convicts Put in Solitary Confinement After Spurious $20 Federal Reserve Note Is Discovered

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 15 .- A counterfeiting plant equipped to turn out fraudulent $20 Federal Reserve notes was revealed in the State Penitentiary late yesterday when Warden Leslie Rudolph, aided by W. H. Davenport of Kansas City, a Federal agent, placed three Kansas City convicts in solitary confinement and seized their equip-

Rudolph said Mack Callan, one of the convicts assigned to duty in the Bertillon Department at the prison, was the leader in the counterfeiting operations. He is serving seven years from Kansas City for robbery. The other two men charged with a part in the counterfeiting ere William McCoy and Melvin Ely, both serving sentences from Kansas City for robbery.

An investigation was begun four days ago when a convict attempted to exchange a $20 bill at the prison commissary for the brass tokens which take the place of money inside the prison. It proved to be a counterfeit bill, fairly accurate as to engraving detail, but imperfect in coloring.

The bill was traced back through this convict, resulting in the dis-covery of the engraving plant hidden away in the Bertillon Depart-ment, Callan obtained engraving tools, plates, inks and chemicals by placing such items on regular requisitions for supplies for the Bertillon Department, and they were passed through the Purchasing Department without being no d. Four plates were found for $20 bills, Rudolph said. This is the first counterfeiting plant discovered within the prison in many years. About 15 years ago Federal operatives and prison officials discovered a small plant inside the prison for making counterfeit silver money, and several years ago molds were discovered for making counterfeits of the brass tokens used as convict money

BY LADY RHONDDA. (The British Peeress Who Won Her Fight to Enter the House of Lords.)

RE women fit companions for way, when a man gets on his feet. he can feel that everything in the world is woman's fault. And how pleased he is to be able to feel so. There seems to be scarcely any-thing in the modern world that is not our fault. The decline of good manners is our fault, and that, I think, is rather an interesting point because you wotice that, according to a certain chass of our men, the decline of good manners came just at the end of the war. But I have never yet met any old gentleman who did not think that a decline of good manners had not happened in his time.

The decadence of the drama is our fault. And that, of course, is a most amazing thing, is it nat? Because, after all, highly intelligent persons know perfectly went that serious drama depends for itsy very existence upon women. But apart from that, of course, is the fact that modern man will not sit there may not get him there. He wants of the people they not get him there. He wants of the people they not get him there. Bad morals are our fault. It see plays in which the morals are doubtful. I have very often read in the daily press, in great murder cases or great divorce cases, of women thronging the court, women besieging the court. And now and again those papers are

It is easier to describe the temporary companion. We ask. I think, of a satisfactory temporary companion that he shall be stimulating and amusing: that he shall be sympathetic; that he shall be sympathetic; that he shall succeed in giving us the impression that he finds our company at least as enjoyable, and preferably perhaps a little more than he finds his; that he enjoys doing the same sort of things that we enjoy doing, and that he enjoys talking about the things that enjoys talking about the things that interest us. Manufacturers too often fall to take into account of the necessary behavioristic reaction of their employes to monotony in work.

There is too much tendency to look of ordinary mental fatigue. They Do Pretty Well.

I should say that, on the whole, they succeed in their endeavors (because, to do them justice, they do endeavor to be fit companions to women) fairly well. I should not say they have entirely failed. But before we decide exactly how far they succeed we have perhaps first to decide what a fit companion is a satisfactory companion.

There is too much tendency to look only at the increased efficienty that comes from what the scientists call established "action patterns" or "habit paths" in the brain system and the muscles of their monotony was a quality in work that depended on the individual was not necessarily inherent in the work itself. He defined menotony as an innate dislike of uniformity. By various laboratory tests he distinguished between people in whom each repetition of an act made the act easier to perform thing, but all evidence shows that monotony is in some way a special form of fatigue. Whereas fatigue is to a large extent objective and can be measured, monotony is offer to each stimulus of a uniform type of the further question of whether that companion is to be temporary or permanent.

THIS evening when we were getting the baby ready for bed I said, "Say, 'Daddy,' darling," but I guess he had a grouch on School closed and Charlie got or something, because he would back to the Old Pasture, after his diploma. ADVENTURE.

Not on far seas in fragile ships to unknown lands I sail, nor can I conquer towering heights against the raving gale. I do not seek to enter where the tropic jungles grow, or plunge into the track-less wastes of endless Arctic snow. For me no peaks unscaled by man, no virgin forest's deeps where many a stealthy creature hides and many a serpent creeps. But when I go adventuring I find some wonders still to set my fancies all astir and make my pulses thrill. My unknown seas are minds of men, sun-swept or tempest-tossed; vast deserts of the soul I glimpse, with battles won or lost. Far heights I climb, dim deeps I plumb, strange scenes in every part, when I go

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

DULCIE'S FATHER ARRIVES. With the afternoon, Cornelia found herself very sleepy, not to say cross.

She shook her eyes open as Benny Rosencrantz came in. somehow grinning, till it was his very signature, she read:

O, meet me at the water cooler! Not Benny, however, waited at the water cooler, but Dulcle

Past the rim of the paper cup she had lifted to her lips Dulcie demanded, "Miss Marsh what's this Sudan, really?"

Before Cornelia could put her geographical and historical inon we're going there. On location, for 'Under Two Flags.' "

When Dulcie rolled away from the studio, there also rolled a mere member of the scenario department, who had entered the tle voice. "I guess cash is always legal." car by stealth in order to receive the instructions, "Write everything to Biskra, care of Benny. Especially when Henry's script's know I can take the last dollar of this cash away from you miss?" received and when it's favorably reported on. But then when Lyman turns it down cable Benny just the one word, REJECTED. That'll be the time for me to cable Lyman or radio or whatever you do out of deserts that he's done for himself."

In order not to make Cornelia lose her boat Dulcle had left the studio still in her make up; she now turned to the hand mirror hanging on the wall of the car and with one violent scrub she obliterated from her lips the rich moisture which was all the coloring or shaping Leland would ever let his actresses use before the camera. "But I'm scared of papa, Cornelia. He's due tonight. And I don't know whenever I'll get away from him again."

"I know it don't really matter how disagreeable papa is. Let him talk all he's a mind to he can't do anything. Whatever happens he can't kill me. He can't kill me, I keep telling myself, nor he can't even lick me, any more. So why should I mind being yelled at and cried at and scolded and called names? Sit tight, Jane Mack! There's got to come a time when he's through. And it'll be just like he never began."

The long golden restaurant of the hotel was built in two levels, the higher reached by a shallow sweep of steps; along the railing of the upper level and facing the lower's length, stood the most coveted tables. At one of these sat a father and his child.

The father was joyously pranked out. One little leg was swung sauntily over the other, his eigar cocked about in his mouth as if with relish and his watering but lively glance skimmed the restaurant and smacked its lips. His child sat in the corner. She answered when spoken to.

During the last hour upstairs, while being spoken to about Lyman, about how any child of her father's could have got herself talked about with Dan Leland-whom her father was going to settle with yet-about what in the world was the matter with her new pictures, she had not answered. But, the occasion over, Mr. Mack was one for letting bygones be bygones. He was delighted now with the affectionate homage exhibited by the waiters toward his daughter; from his social Olympus he stooped to crack jokes with these trained animals. He eyed everyone coming up the steps to see if they noticed his little girl, whom he had to say was all here with the glitter tonight. As a showman he felt himself a success. Signing the check which he would pay later on with Dulcie's money, he rose, and walked proudly down the steps and along a room in whoses pageantry he felt himself happily conspicuous.

In Dulcie's room Mr. Mack took up one of his scattered evening papers and began, a trifle uneasily, to rescan its columns.

All the lonely evening lay before him in which to answer a certain question which Dulcie's letters and replies had hitherto evaded. And yet he could not wait. In the few moments while his daughter was changing her dress he had to begin opening the drawers of her desk, fumbling among papers, picking at a keyless lock. She cupful of water. When tender and recrossed her threshold too suddenly for him, and he started; then, rich remove from the fire and cool remembering that he was within his rights, returned with elaborate casualness to his search. "Papa was just looking for the little girl's Something ticked behind her eyes, and she grew paler. But, finding the bankbook, she handed it to Mr. Mack; then went to the window and stood, looking out. Far away letters of fire flashed the name of a regnant princess in and out against the sky-DULCIE JAYNE-DULCIE JAYNE.

She waited through a long silence. Staring at the bankbook, Mr. Mack stood, stupefied. It wasn't only the bankbook. Something in his daughter's attitude warned him that the puzzle which met him there was not susceptible of a satisfactory solution. "What's this mean, Dulcie? There's no entries since I been away. What've you done with you money?"

"Good God Almighty, girl, what's the matter with you? Now you answer me; what you been doing with your money?" "I've been saving it, papa."

"Saving it! Where is it, then? What're you up to? Saved ho

"Eighty-five thousand dollars, papa,"

"O!" Cold sweat ceased to break out upon him; his heart, though still staggering from the insane and ghastly shock, began to feel the return of a normal beat. But something continued to warn him; a strangeness was afoot somewhere. "Well, have you changed banks, or what? Where've you got this eighty-five thousand dollars?' "It's in a sefety deposit box, papa."

"O!" Tasting a deeper reassurance, he breathed still more freely. "What on earth made you do such a trick as that with it?"

"I wanted it in cash, papa." "In cash! You got eighty-five thousand dollars in cash?"

"Yes, papa. Eighty-five thousand dollar bills." His eye changed, brightened; his reassurance now complete, he broke into a tolerant laugh. "Well, if she isn't the queerest little trick. Always had queer notions-queer even as a haby! Wanted it handy, did you, right there in your fist? Well, well, well, you know you gave the old man quite a scare! Tell you the truth, Kitten, you've kept it so dark, often's I've asked you what you were saving every week, papa got kind o' worried. Didn't know what you was up to exactly. But this is fine-eighty-five thousand dollars out of the hundred thousand you've had; why, that's great. That's quite a lot of money for a little puss like you to save up, living like the queen the whole time. But you realize we got to do something with it now. Can't lie idle forever, just so a little kid can play with it. What deposit company you got your box in, Kitten?"

"I'm not going to tell you, papa." For a moment Mr. Mack felt nothing whatever. A slight impatience, perhaps. Some tricks are too cute! There being no further development of this one, he asked, "How do you mean-not tell

"All what? I don't get you, dearie. What aren't you going to

"Well, but- Look here, you can't keep eighty-five thousand dollars shut up in a box! How do you expect I'm going to invest it any without I can get at it?"

"That's what I mean, papa, just exactly. I don't intend can get at it. I don't want you to invest it. I don't want you to do anything with it. I'm going to do something with it myself."

After that there could be no wonder at anything Mr. Mack said or did. The less so because, to his mind, the thing must remain utterly inexplicable; a mere defiance of the laws of nature, outrageous, Bonny extended a comic weekly and said he wanted to ask unprovoked, unprecedented, insane. Eighty-five thousand dollars, her was this hers? On the margin, in a hand writing, sloping, and a little squirt like this talking about what she would do with it! Did she know he was her father! Who had been talking to her? What crazy scheme had she let herself in for?

A new and terrible thought struck him. Had the worst already taken place? Had she given the money into other hands? "How dare you not answer papa when he speaks to you? If you was a few years younger, miss, I'd know how to settle you-" Catching her by the shoulders, he swung her round to face him. Her pallor, her downformation into tabloid form Dulcie pressed on. "Has it really got cast eyes, her acquiescence under his touch frightened him worse than a desert in it? Because a simply swell desert is why Lyman lets ever. "Don't you know your signature wouldn't even be legal, you damned little fool?"

"That's why I wanted it in cash," she said, in a colorless, low lit-his hands full."

Her mere impudence almost dumbfounded him. "And don't you "Not if you can't find it, papa."
